Editor's note: In the coming weeks, a retrospective on life in the early Glades will be published in serial form. The series is based on the recollections of C.A. "Mutt" Thomas as written by Ruth S. Irvin. This work, originally completed June 20, 1978, is published here by permission of the C.A. "Mutt" Thomas family.

WE MOVED TO RITTA ISLAND FALL 1921

My father's family lived on a farm seven miles northwest of Madison in Madison County, Florida. The farm lay close to Hicktown Swamp which was named after a renegade Indian who was killed nearby. My mother, whose maiden name was Susan Indiana Loper was born in the same community on March 20, 1894. My father, Charles Edward Thomas, was born in the old farmhouse which my grandfather had built on February 18, 1892. I was born April 27, 1915. A brother and two sisters were also born in North Florida and another sister was born after we came to South Florida. My grandfather had nine children, two died young, six boys and one girl grew up. When my grandfather was older, he was struck by lightning. He and my uncle were working out in the fields when a sudden storm came up and they took shelter in an abandoned house on the place. They were standing near a window and my grandfather was struck. He seemed to recover but died soon after. My grandmother had to sell a lot of the land. My aunt, Edna Thomas Draddy, moved into Madison after she married and she still lives there. My father was farming land that belonged to my mother's people. He was farming cotton and peanuts and raising cattle and hogs up until we left there in the fall of 1921 to come to Ritta Island. This was after the first World War and times were hard as farmers in North Florida were not making anything on their cotton.

My uncle, Richard Mays Thomas, had gone to Fort Lauderdale long before the war and he began working as a caretaker and manager of his estate off the mainland. Mr. Birch thought highly of Uncle Mays and put him on as long as Uncle Mays

Bridge repair work delayed till May

BELLE GLADE - Repairs to the Point Chosen Bridge, scheduled to begin in the early part of this year, have been delayed until May 2 by the Florida Department of Transportation, according to Belle Glade City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang.

"I want to compliment them on their cooperation," said Strang.

The bridge was scheduled for repairs at the peak of the fishing and camping season. Since the bridge is only means of crossing the rim canal and entering the marina, any repair work would have effectively closed the city owned campground and the several fish camps on the lake side of the canal.

Strang estimated that the repair work, estimated to cost about $175,000, would cost the city $100,000 in lost revenues from the campground. The city commission had authorized Strang to try and find a solution to the problem by working with DOT.

Strang said the issue was solved administratively with the Department's head in Fort Lauderdale, William K. Fowler.

Strang received word Tuesday afternoon, January 4, from Roy F. Pytel, the DOT resident engineer on the project out of West Palm Beach that it had been delayed.

Previously, the DOT had objected to altering the schedule because of additional funds the contractor would have been entitled to under the contract.

"We tried to work it out administratively, and that's what we did," said Strang.

MICHAEL MILLER OPENS PRIVATE LAW PRACTICE. State Attorney Michael D. Miller, formerly of the Palm Beach County State Attorney's Office was given a farewell party Thursday in Bryant Auditorium at the County County Court House Glades Annex. On hand for the lunch were county administrative personnel including Judge Don Adams, Miller, fourth from the left, was presented with a wall clock by members of his staff, Hannah Rickey, Tammy Miller, Debra Hearsom, Julie Murphy, Richard A. Barlow and J.T. McCoy.

Improvements at hospital lauded by Mayor Altman

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - Belle Glade Mayor Thomas L. Altman, who was critical of conditions and service at Glades General Hospital in 1979, has released a letter that he wrote to the hospital's administrator earlier this week in which he complimented the hospital and its employees for "extraordinary improvements at Glades General."

"During the past year, through a combination of personal observation, citizen input and comment from health care professionals, it has become obvious to me that the current conditions at Glades General are excellent," stated Altman in the January 4 letter to Glades General Administrator Patrick Lenneman. "From industries to coronary, from emergency room to intensive care throughout the entire hospital, it appears as though the board, administration and staff have done an outstanding job in providing the highest quality of personnel and facilities."

Altman said that personal observation and comments from friends and professional had

Pahokee's Atari 1st baby born in county

PAHOKEE - Everglades Memorial Hospital delivered the first baby in Palm Beach County for the new year.

Mrs. Towanna Johnson of Lake Harbor gave birth to Atari Pierre Downs on Jan. 1 at 12:42 a.m.

Atari, weighing in at 7 pounds and 4 ounces was delivered by Dr. R.L. Hutton, a local obstetrician, on call for Dr. Ahmad Barhoush of Belle Glade.

Mrs. Johnson said Atari was born two days late according to information given her by Dr. Barhoush. "Atari should have popped into the world somewhere around Dec. 30, 1981," she said.

The mother of three other children, Tashanda, 4, Troy, 3, and Calvin, 2, Mrs. Johnson said Atari is her last child.

The local hospital also had four other babies delivered on New Year's Day. A staff nurse said the boys out numbered the girls with only one girl delivered along with four boys.

Gifts from local merchants were presented to Mr. Johnson for having given birth to the first baby of the new year.

A local daily paper reported St. Mary's Hospital of West Palm Beach had the first baby in a five county-area comprising, Martin, Okeechobee, Indian River, St. Lucie and West Palm Beach.

St. Mary's baby arrived Jan. 1 at 1:19 a.m. According to the system of mathematics Everglades Memorial Hospital nested in the western most section of Palm Beach County has the honor of delivering the first baby of the new year, not St. Mary's.

A fact the maternity staff of Everglades Memorial Hospital is might proud of.

Naked man goes to jail

BELLE GLADE - It's the holiday season and from out of state with no way home. You don't have a roof over your head and you don't know anyone in the area. What do you do?

Mississippi man found at least a temporary roof over his head.

James E. Wood, 43, entered the Belle Glade Police Station Friday morning, December 31, and claimed he was a robbery victim.

He had no proof and, according to reports, may have been intoxicated.

He was turned away, but came back shortly asking for a ride home or to be put in jail for a couple of days.

When he was turned down again, he left.

Where there's a will, there's a way, though. Woods returned at about 7 a.m. and sat in the lobby of the station wearing a hat, a pair of socks and a pair of boots.

He was promptly arrested, charged with exposure of a sexual organ and put in jail.

Bake sale set at Plaza

BELLE GLADE - Glades Central High School Choir will hold a bake sale, Saturday, Jan. 8 starting at 9 a.m. at Glades Plaza.

Proceeds from the sale will go toward a musical festival in Datona Beach to be held in February.

No action taken on ordinance due to attorney's absence

PAHOKEE - The workshop meeting scheduled between the Pahokee city council and its Planning and Zoning Board to discuss problems with the city's trailer code was diverted to a discussion of housing problems in general when the city attorney failed to attend due to an illness.

The council and board were supposed to review the codes governing the placement of trailers in the city, but decided not to do so without the presence of its attorney, Michael Stauder.

Instead, discussion revolved around housing and dilapidated structures in the city.

"Until we do something about some of this junky property, I can't sit on the Planning and Zoning Board and condemn anybody for living in a trailer," said Lynn Brinson, the chairman of the Planning and Zoning Board.

Mayor Duncan Padgett said that the city has ordinances concerning dilapidated housing and property, but the city attorney had told the council it cannot enforce the code without resorting to a lawsuit.

"We've got the code, but we can't enforce it. We've tried but we can't," he said. "I don't think our code's worth a flip because we don't have any enforcement power. We ought to get some new ones."

J. Ray Hatton II said he agreed. "Maybe the codes need to be rewritten so you can enforce them," he said, adding that some city employees may have contributed to the lack of enforcement because they were scared that an upper landowner would get them fired if they cited that property owner for code violations.

He said the city has two methods at its disposal to enforce its codes more effectively:

- It could hire the county to inspect buildings in the city, thus providing an impartial inspector who wouldn't be in debt to any local people, or
- It could hire the county to inspect buildings through its own inspector and, if the mandated improvements weren't made by the owner, the city could undertake the project and put a lien on the property for the cost of the work.

Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker asked where the displaced residents of condemned buildings would be placed once the city started working on the projects and evicted them.

J. Ray Hatton II said the city could demand the first available spot at the project managed by Hatton Properties and the Pahokee Housing Authority. These organizations are mandated by law to provide spaces for displaced individuals as they become available if the city requests them, he said.

He added that the last time he knew of the city using that authority was in 1972 when it requested housing units from the Pahokee Housing Authority.

"I don't have any available units right now, but I have two vacancies a month. At least two vacancies a month," said Hatton.

His father, J. Ray Hatton, said that the city council could enforce its code more diligently if the employees would follow instructions. He accused Slonaker of "spending more time trying to interpret the law than exercising his authority."

He also suggested the city be eliminated and be incorporated into the county so it would be "like Canal Point. All nice and

Pahokee Chamber opts for Festival

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce board of directors has decided to scrap plans for a March festival and to sponsor a July 4 Freedom Festival instead.

The decision was made at the Monday, January 3 meeting of the board.

"I don't think we can continue with it year after and do it right," said George Tillis of the March festival.

Last year, the chamber sponsored a 60th Anniversary Pioneer Celebration. The celebration featured appearances by celebrities and booths on the docks.

Tillis suggested the chamber hold an annual Freedom Festival every July 4 and schedule a celebration every five years to commemorate the city's anniversary in March.

He said that the board doesn't have time to organize a festival for the middle of March this year.

"We really haven't done that much on it at this point," he said. "And we have less than three months."

"Regardless of what we do, we're gonna have to get community participation and solicit businesses for money," said J. Ray Hatton II, adding that it might be better to hold the celebration in March because of the weather and the willingness of businesses to contribute to the event.

would stay. Uncle Mays had a chance, however, to earn $3.00 a day working on a dredge on the North New River Canal. This project, taken over by the Clark-Furst Construction Company in 1910, picked up steam after a dredge moved to the site of South Bay to start the Lake end of the canal. It was finished by Lawrence Will, Glades historian, reported meeting Uncle Mays at Ritta Shore in the winter of 1914-15. Ritta Shore, on the mainland, got its name from Ritta Island. The hotel had been built at Ritta Shore in 1915, to house prospective customers for Glades and Ritta Shore was later known as Miami Locks. It wasn't until July 16, 1931 with the coming of the post office that it became known as Lake Harbor.

Ritta Island is located a mile off shore from the Miami Canal; it had its first settlers about 1909 and others came. The U.S. Government surveyed all the Okeechobee islands in 1913 and, soon after, largely through the work of Braddock and Winne on Torrey Island, declared that they were open for homesteading. Johnny Windham had 55 acres on the east side and he got Uncle Mays interested. They went in together, built adjoining houses, started clearing the land and began farming. Uncle Mays got my Daddy interested and when Johnny traded his rights to Uncle Mays and moved away, Uncle Mays persuaded us to come join him. My dad had come down and visited with Uncle Mays in 1920 before he brought us down in 1921.

My father borrowed $100.00 to make the move to Ritta Island. We made the trip from North Florida on the train. We changed trains in Jacksonville and went to Haines City. A spur of the Atlantic Coast Line which had started operation in 1917 or 1918 took us from Haines City to Moore Haven. We brought with us our furniture and other possessions as well as five barrels of smoked meat. Someone stole a barrel in Moore Haven; or, at least, it never got on the boat.

We left the next day to go to Ritta Island on Captain Ed Forbes' mail boat, the Fox. This cabin boat left from the Everglades Lock near the big cypress tree at Moore Haven. Captain "Little" Ed Forbes, the skipper, lived on Ritta Island near the hotel, that Captain Felix Forbes, his father, had built and the boat lay up overnight there before continuing on to Loxahatchee the next day. Mail from the lake communities was picked up on the way and incoming mail from West Palm Beach was picked up in Loxahatchee and brought back. Passengers and merchandise were carried on the boat for additional profit. The post office on Ritta Island was built on the northwest corner and was called Malbury.

We moved into the house that Johnny Windham had left vacant on the southeast corner of the island. The house was made of Florida pine consisting of a large living room, bedroom, small kitchen, back and front porch. The windows were screened with shutters and the porches were open. Most of the houses built then were unfinished inside with the ceiling rafters bare.

Uncle Mays and Daddy started farming together. They cleared land by hand, planted it and farmed with hand tools, mostly. Captain Felix Forbes had the only mule on the island. It was necessary for all who could do so to work on the land. The children worked as soon as they were big enough and when they were not in school. In those days the family with the most kids had the best farm. My mother worked beside my father as she had done in North Florida. The land was originally covered by cypress apple trees which were easy to clear. We cleared the land by hand and the more land you cleared the bigger your farm. The more help a family had the more you could grow.

Green beans and onions were the crops we grew that first season. They were shipped to Fort Lauderdale on Captain Shackleford's freight boat and sold there.

NEXT WEEK: We moved to Ft. Lauderdale.

Ringling Brothers Circus coming to West Palm Beach

Big, bold and beautiful, the 113th season of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make South Florida the inaugural arena for its 1983 national tour. When producers Irvin Berlin and Kenneth Feld present the celebrated wild animal trainer, lion tamer, and elephant herder, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make South Florida the inaugural arena for its 1983 national tour. When producers Irvin Berlin and Kenneth Feld present the celebrated wild animal trainer, lion tamer, and elephant herder, the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus will make South Florida the inaugural arena for its 1983 national tour.

Always the highlight of the new year, extravagant costumes, lush orchestrations and splendid settings will complement the glamour and excitement generated by such starliners as Gebel-Williams, "The Lord of the Rings," who will this year add to the thrill of facing 19 Bengal tigers by riding into the show astride two black Morgan horses, a lion accompanying him on each mount.

For many, the incredible performance of Dolly Jacobs' Roman rings act high above the arena floor is one of the circus' major highlights. Daughter of Lou Jacobs' the most famous clown in the world, Dolly, considered one of the finest female acrobats in the world, has now become this decade's legendary female performer.

Two troupes of the superstar Flying

Espanas in breathtaking triple somersaults and mid-air catches on the flying trapeze make up their bow this year, the highwire-walking Carillo Brothers performing lightning-fast acrobatics on a slender steel thread with no safety net, and the Fearless Bauers swap pole act highlighted by their mid-air exchange and a 50 mph "death plunge" again without the benefit of safety device or net.

But frequently responsible for bringing families together and back to the Greatest Show on Earth year after year are the scores of outrageous clowns with oversized shoes, grotesque make-up, outlandish costumes and antic behavior.

Community services meeting slated

BELLE GLADE—The first Community Services meeting of the 1983 season is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 12 at 12:30 p.m. in the Glades Office Building Auditorium.

The speaker for the occasion will be Patricia Downs, Sister of the Blessed Sacrament, who works jointly with Sister Margaret Mary Sullivan in the Catholic-Haitian Center.

Their pastoral activities in Belle Glade were prepared by spending two months in Haiti, learning and experiencing the lives of its people.

In November of 1982, a Pastoral Ministry Apostolate was started in Belle Glade in cooperation with Father Santa Bibiana and the St. Philip's Catholic Church.

The Glades Center is part of a network of centers operated by the Pierre Louisaint Catholic-Haitian Center in Miami. The Belle Glade Center is just one of a network of Pastoral Ministry Centers located throughout Southwest Florida.

The first center was established by Archbishop McCarthy. For further information, call 996-1630.

come along on this PALM BEACH COUNTY

3-Island Tour of Hawaii with farm and ranch visits

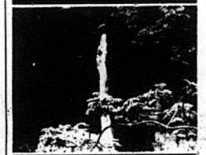

Clayton Hutchison, Palm Beach County Extension Director and his wife, Ann, will host a 3-day tour of the Hawaiian Islands.

March 7 thru 16, 1983

"Ann and I invite you to join us and other neighbors as we tour three glamorous islands in a deluxe, air-conditioned coach with a professional guide. We'll stay in some of the world's most luxurious, deluxe-class hotels, surrounded by incredible scenic beauty. And we'll get a close look at interesting and unusual island-style farming and ranching!"

Send for your FREE detailed itinerary!

Say aloha to cosmopolitan Honolulu and the island of Oahu with Diamond Head, Pearl Harbor, the USS Arizona, Punchbowl, the extinct volcano crater that serves as the U.S. Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific and America's only royal palace. We'll have time to see them all during three leisurely days on the island.

What would a tropical paradise be without a silvery waterfall? 420-foot-high Akaka Falls is one of many such cascades on the islands.

Relax on Waikiki Beach and enjoy this fine view of Diamond Head. Swim, sunbathe or just enjoy a leisurely stroll in the sand.

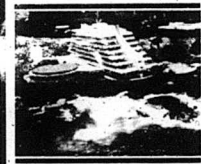

We'll stay for two days on the island that provided the setting for such films as "South Pacific," "King Kong" and "Islands in the Stream." Activities on Kauai include a cruise down the Waialeale River to romantic Fern Grotto and a spectacular torch-lighting ceremony in a palm grove.

Our famous, deluxe-class hotel on beautiful Waikiki Beach is a resort in itself. Step out the door and you're ready for an evening stroll over still-warm sand, under waving palm trees. A full-day tour circling the island and visits to a banana farm and a dairy operation make our stay on Oahu even more special.

The luxurious Garden Isle of Kauai may be Hawaii's best kept secret. Thundering waterfalls, gentle meandering rivers, sweeping valleys and a picturesque coastline have drawn moviegoers to Kauai, but so far not many tourists have discovered its abundant charms.

Nothing can compare with the magic and serenity of a sun-kissed beach. You're never far from the ocean.

All our deluxe-class hotels are beautiful places... in beautiful places! On the island of Hawaii we stay in the incredible Kona Hilton.

We jet to the Big Island of Hawaii on three more dreamy days. We'll see snow-capped Mauna Loa, a black-sand beach and steaming Kilauea Crater, where the astronauts trained for moon walks, as well as visit a ranch where cattle are herded by helicopter. You'll feast your eyes on over 2,000 varieties of orchids in fabulous Nani Mau Gardens.

Dreams are free. So are itineraries. Send for yours today!

The cost of this unforgettable tour is just $1,624 from West Palm Beach—perhaps less than you'd think possible, considering it includes deluxe-class resort hotels, a full-time tour escort, air fares between islands, transportation by deluxe, air-conditioned motorcoach, sightseeing, farm and ranch visits and much, much more.

Reality has roses, thorns too

By Dr. David Thomas
President, Clewiston Informed Parents

We, as Americans, are accustomed to viewing certain critical events preferably through rose colored glasses. We like to listen to sermons on Sunday that do not point the accusing finger at our shortcomings. Likewise, we prefer to remain silent on controversial matters that might bring about involvement and consequently criticism from our friends. We always search for a well-packaged logical solution to a problem as complex as that which youths face when they find themselves embroiled in teenage alcoholism and drug addiction. Most certainly concerned parents have admonished their children during their "growing up phase", providing them with guidance and direction to point out the error of their ways. Most often this was accomplished through a talk with the child sometimes reinforced with a pat on the back of the bottom-most region. At a certain point in their lives a point difficult to ascertain, the youth turn more toward their peers and consequently turn off their parents to a great degree. No longer will the little parental "fireside chats" and corporal punishment administered with tender loving care be enough. Often it requires a shock to gain their attention and start them thinking in a positive vein. Stark reality is needed to affect a change of direction. It isn't a pretty picture! Some of the words spoken aren't pretty especially if they are repeated as the youths heard them or perhaps used them as they traveled along the road of alcohol and drug abuse.

Toma has been criticised for using harsh language but he speaks from his experience of twenty-one years with the New Jersey Police Force as an undercover agent and has seen the evil and horror that drug and alcohol addiction cause. His life was the basis for the T.V. series Toma and Baretta. Toma is not a gentle speaker but he is NOT DEALING WITH A GENTLE SUBJECT.

As an administrator in a school composed largely of adjudicated juveniles (grades 10-12) awarded to us by the courts, I had occasional opportunities to make use of convicted felons to talk with youngsters in an attempt to teach them the futility of a life of crime. I could not talk to the youngsters myself because I lacked the empathy and language that they might understand and respond to. I did not then nor do I now condone the use of harsh words but I do approve of methods that prove effective in achieving results and turning youngsters around.

Toma is the shock trooper that will be addressing these youngsters in a language that they will understand. There will be harsh language and words that we don't like to hear but which are necessary for reality. Rest assured that every word that Toma uses will be delivered with love. These words will be a catalyst to drive home some important point that might otherwise be ignored. However, these same words, directed to adult ears, might constitute offensive language.

The public is invited to the John Boy Auditorium to hear Toma, Tuesday, February 1st at 7:30 P.M. This man is not the sole answer to providing a solution for the alcohol and drug abuse problem in our community but he is the impact that is needed to kick off a program of aid for the youth. Make it a point to be there that night. I can assure you that it will be worth your time. Admittance is free on a first come/first serve basis.

The Union should allow Miami to secede

Barry Goldwater once said (only half-jokingly) that he would like to see California off from the rest of the country and let it float out into the Pacific.

This was because of all the crazy ideas (political and otherwise) that spouted in California and were picked up elsewhere as trendy.

Saving California would have the added benefit of making Yuma Pacific waterfront property and thereby increasing Arizona land values.

I think many Floridians feel somewhat the same way about Miami. It's too bad that we can't let Miami secede from the state. Just saw it right off and let it join the Bahamas.

Miami used to have such a pleasant personality. Remember the "Moon over Miami" days, back when there were only a quarter million people living there?

Miami was a vacation oasis of sun baked pastel buildings, gorgeous white sand beaches fringed with coconut trees, and a sedate, slow-paced living style.

As recently as the late 1960s Miami was still a desirable place to be. Remember Dustin Hoffman's anti-hero character in the "Midnight Cowboy." It was Miami that he wanted to escape to.

These days, no one runs away to Miami. Miami is violating itself right out of the honeymoon market. There are Miami refugees all over the state.

Used to be that when people in snowy realms thought of a Florida vacation, they thought of Miami. Nowadays they think about Tampa or Orlando. And those really in the know think about one of our fine resorts around Lake Okeechobee.

In Miami, the innocent bystander has too great an opportunity of being caught in a crossfire of shots between drug smugglers in a downtown mall or being dragged from a car and beaten by rioters.

What is really distressing about Miami is how it has become a center for the drug trade. How could we deteriorate so much as a people as to allow such a thing to happen?

With all its resources, its money, its think tanks, and its professional management, why can't Miami solve its problems.

Maybe it's just a sign of the times, and a troubling one too as we begin 1983.

State contracts can save cities money

Several local municipalities have recently found that they can purchase items under state contract for less than what they would pay for similar items put out to bid.

State contracts are, in essence, a list of state sanctioned dealers of various items that governments can make certain purchases from without going to bid.

If cities make purchases from any other dealers, they must advertise for bids and accept the lowest bidder. State contracts are a way around that requirement.

While the system lends itself to abuse, it can also be used prudently and to the benefit of the taxpayers.

The Belle Glade City Commission recently exemplified how the system can be used to benefit the citizens.

It recently decided to purchase several vehicles, including police cars, through the state contract system.

After advertising for and accepting bids from several local dealers, the list of state contractors was checked. Police Chief D. Bill Mathis found that vehicles similar to those bid on could be purchased through a state contract for less than the lowest bid received.

The city commission voted to purchase the automobiles through the contract, and saved money. Taxpayers' money.

The Pahokee City Council also is aware of the state contract system.

At a recent meeting, a local organization requested a donation from the city to pay for uniforms for a little league football program.

The amount was over the $100 limit the city can legally donate to private organizations, so the city council decided to look into setting up a recreation department staffed by volunteers, and allocating the money for the uniforms through it.

We urge local governments to continue using the state contract to save money for the taxpayers. With assistance from the federal level decreasing, every cent saved by local governments will mean more services they can provide their citizens.

We also urge the cities to continue their participation in the bidding process prior to deciding whether to purchase under the state contract system.

There may be times when when a lower price or better service can be purchased through a firm not under state contract.

Letters to the editor

Editor:

We are writing this letter in support of Police Chief Robert Dyrast.

Recently charges have been brought against the Clewiston Police Department. However, we feel that the Clewiston Police Department is one of the finest law enforcement agencies in the state, and one of the main reasons is the leadership and dedication of Chief Dyrast.

For Chief Dyrast, being the top law enforcement officer in this city means being virtually on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week; it means being accessible to all citizens who call upon him for help. Chief Dyrast also has a reputation for being a good administrator and for being genuinely concerned that those under his supervision perform their duties faithfully. He is also known for being committed to fair treatment of those under his supervision.

While the Clewiston News has reported matters fairly and impartially, it is apparent that the media, particularly in Ft. Myers, are having a "field day" with the charges leveled at our police department. Perhaps this keeps people tuned to their TV sets and sells more newspapers. But none of this should be allowed to reflect upon Chief Dyrast and the other members of the police force who are hard working, honest, dedicated people.

We feel that, under the present circumstances, it is important to reaffirm our support for Chief Dyrast, a man of integrity facing a difficult situation with dignity. We also wish to reaffirm our support for the Clewiston Police Department as a whole.

Dear Editor,
Usually when the Clewiston High School Band & Color Guard travels to out-of-town football games, the students must provide for their meals, if needed. But, thanks to the generosity of some local and area business people, this was not necessary when the band traveled to Monticello for the state championship game!

The students were really excited when they learned that Mr. Benson at Old South Bar-B-Q, Mr. Bryant at Dixie Fried Chicken, and Mr. Hooks and Mr. Acre at Kentucky Fried Chicken had agreed to provide three complete meals for the band for the trip. Also providing drinks, ice, potato chips, napkins, plates, forks and cookies were Joe Whitehead of Shamrock Food Store, Jack Smith of Smith's Thriftway, Richard Barker of U-Save and Mr. Viasan of Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Ft. Myers. Mr. Robert Coker was a big help in bringing the band's needs to the attention of these fine merchants.

The parents, students and Mr. Gatlin, our director, sincerely appreciate their generous support.

On our Monticello trip, everyone enjoyed the opportunity of getting to know Supt. Burke, who accompanied the band as a chaperone.

These nice gestures helped end our 1982 marching season on a good note.

Carol Robinson, Pres. Clewiston Band Association

Dear Editor,
I wanted you to know about "videomania." Videomania means videocraziness. This is what is going on today.

I think that videomania really began when "Pac-man" first came out. Pac-man is a video game about a yellow ball that eats dots and ghost monsters.

This really began the multi-million dollar video sales. People quickly began to any way to get a quarter to play the games. Kids began to skip school just to play video games.

All kinds of video games are played at home. Not only this, but home video games are also selling quickly.

AILS

AND WHAT NOT

Now that you can distinguish between a need and a whim, would you know a bozo if you saw one? Or were one?

With tongue in cheek (and both hands on the moneybag) a California pair has launched a "No Bozos" campaign replete with t-shirts, T-shirts, caps, and what-all, featuring the face of Bozo the Clown superimposed with the international sign for "No."

While the word bozo is variously defined as an oaf or an uncool fellow, today's bozo is easier to describe than define.

A Los Angeles Times Service story quotes one of the campaign's originators, Howard Storey, as saying, "We are frustrated by bozos all the time."

A bozo, according to Storey, is the driver who passes you at 60 mph, cuts in front of you, and slows down to 20. A bozo takes up two parking spaces in a crowded lot with a compact car or arrives at the express line check-out with 15 items when the sign plainly states, "10 items or less."

Storey's right. The world is full of bozos. My nominations would include both the people who let swinging doors close behind them but right in front of you and those who sail through a door you've just opened for yourself without so much as a thank you.

Bozos also park their cars so close to yours that, when you return, you can't open your door on the driver's side.

Burglaries hit Pahokee after Christmas

PAHOKEE — A series of five burglaries in four days cost several Pahokee citizens over $4,500 in damages and stolen property, according to Pahokee Police Department reports.

The burglaries began Wednesday, December 29, 1982, at about 7:30 a.m. when Jack Thomas, 49, of 377 Kismet in Pahokee, reported his home had been burglarized. His house had been entered through a side door.

Thomas reported approximately $25 in damages and that several items were stolen, including tools, a battery charger and an ice chest, according to the report.

Later that day, Deborah Durham, 28, of Begonia Avenue, reported that her home had been entered through a bathroom window. The report stated she claimed a cassette player and video machine were stolen for a value of about $80. She also claimed $100 in damages.

Police investigated that incident at about 5:30 p.m.

Larry Webb of 633 East Seventh Street in Pahokee reported two bicycles were stolen from his home December 30. He said the bicycles were valued at a total of $300.

At 6:25 p.m. that same day, police investigated the burglary of a home owned by Vance Denton, 60, of 1487 East Main Street in Pahokee.

That burglary apparently took place between 1 p.m. and 6:25 p.m. that day.

Entry was apparent ly gained by cutting a screen in the rear, according to the report.

He reported that approximately $4,133.46 in property was stolen, including two televisions, stereo equipment, a silver tray and a massager.

Denton also reported that a small green car was parked in front of his home the day of the burglary.

Founders Day set

BELLE GLADE—Mu Rho Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., invites the public to attend its Annual Founders' Day Program on Sunday, Jan. 9 at 3 p.m. at the Greater St. Paul Church of God in Christ, Rev. Clarence Brown, pastor.

The church is located at 912 W. Ave. A., Belle Glade.

The guest speaker will be Ms. Bessie D. Fitzgerald, a member of Zeta Tau Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., West Palm Beach.

Music will be rendered by the Williams Family of the Glades area.

Cynthia Vickers is the bassist of the local AKA Chapter.

2 charged in Miami Springs burglary

BELLE GLADE—Two Belle Glade men are facing charges of grand theft auto from the Miami Springs police department after they were picked up for running a stop sign Sunday, January 2.

According to Detective Ray Swaford of the Belle Glade Police Department, C.C. Patrolman

Whitlock stopped a 1977 Toyota Sunday for running a stop sign at SW Sixth Street and SW Avenue A.

The two passengers, Idelberto Rodriguez, 19, of 1018 NW

Avenue D, was charged with driving with a suspended license and possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

A passenger in the vehicle, Bernardo Herrera, 57, of 225 SW Second Street in Belle Glade, was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana.

At the police station, a check of the vehicle tags revealed that the tags were registered to a Mazda that was stolen from Hillsborough County.

The Toyota was discovered to have been stolen from Miami Springs.

Achievement presentation set

PAHOKEE—The Friendship Women's Club will kick off their 1983 calendar of events with its first "Achievement Awards Program" Sunday, Jan. 9

Hospital

care specialists indicated the conditions had improved at the hospital since he criticized it publicly in late 1978 and early 1979.

"After having criticized them publicly, I felt I had an obligation to compliment them," said Altman.

"I sincerely appreciate Tom (Altman) taking the time to write the letter," said Lennson, who added the letter was "totally unsolicited."

According to Lennson, who had come on board at the hospital as administrator during the disputes over care and conditions at the hospital, the issue was partially a result of bad publicity.

Lennson said that a reporter from the Palm Beach Times had toured and taken photographs of the old hospital building which still stands beside the new structure.

"The Evening Times had printed photographs and an article by Iz Nachman, then a reporter with the Times, in the January 5, 1979 issue of the newspaper. Those pictures were of the old building, which hadn't housed patients since 1965. Lennson said the reporter never toured the new building."

"I think that there was some really terrible publicity by the Palm Beach Times," said Lennson. "I don't think that Tom (Altman) knew all of the story out here."

The Evening Times had printed photographs and an article by Iz Nachman, then a reporter with the Times, in the January 5, 1979 issue of the newspaper. Those pictures were of the Memorial wing of the hospital, which now houses the children's ward.

The wing is connected to the rest of the hospital.

"Conditions were just very poor," said Altman in discussing the hospital at that time as compared to the present. "It was dirty. They didn't have functional equipment. They had virtually no doctors on staff."

He said what concerned him most was a lack of confidence in the hospital through the years, then everyone in the community lives in a bit of anguish over 'Oh my God, I hope I don't have to go there to get treated,'" said Altman.

According to Lennson, Altman and he had met several times and discussed problems at the hospital in early 1979, and several goals. He said the hospital has accomplished those goals.

"Obviously, Tom (Altman) has taken a look at the hospital and seen what's been going on," said Lennson.

According to Lennson, those accomplishments included:

- The addition of ten new physicians to the staff and the community.

- Emergency room service by a full-time staff and emergency room physician 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

- Replacement of the hospital's emergency power generator.

- Renovation of the interior and exterior "from one end to the other."

- Bringing the hospital system up to current electrical codes for patient care. The hospital met all the codes in existence when it was built, but it now meets current standards.

- The addition of a critical care unit.

A new emergency room, currently under construction, which will be divided into five specialty rooms and several multi-purpose rooms.

Altman said he became aware of the improvements at Glades General by several means.

One of his sons was recently treated at the hospital and he said he found the care his son received compared "favorably" to the care he received at other hospitals.

People in the community had also commented favorably on conditions at the hospital recently, he said.

He also cited the case of a man hospitalized at Glades General for a heart attack. The individual had to be taken to a heart center in Miami for further treatment, and a nationally known specialist was asked if the individual should be moved to the center before his treatment was needed.

According to Altman, the specialist said Glades General had some of the best equipment available to care for the patient until then.

"Three years ago we had nothing," said Altman of the intensive care unit.

"They've (the hospital) spent a lot of money," said Altman. "And their taxes are high. The authority has a high millage rate. But as a taxpayer, I think we've gotten our money's worth."

Pahokee chamber officers elected

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee Chamber of Commerce elected a new slate of officers to guide it through the new year Monday, January 3.

Diane Hall, a two-term Vice President of the Chamber, was unanimously elected to the President's seat after out-going President George Tillis turned down the nomination for a second term.

"The position of president has created some conflicts with my work with the city," said Tillis, who is a Pahokee City Councilman. "It would be to everyone's advantage to have me off as president."

He said he didn't have enough time to give both jobs the work they require, so he asked that his name be taken from nomination.

Jay Hattton II was elected Vice President and Linda Moss was returned as Treasurer.

CPAC organizes

BELLE GLADE - The Citizen Planning and Advisory Committee will hold a first meeting of the year tonight at 7:30 in Conference Room B of Belle Glade City Hall.

According to Gladys Ganzy, the group will discuss the ongoing projects and the oncoming new members.

clean." The council, board and audience also briefly discussed trailers.

The board had asked that the city revise the codes governing the placement of trailers outside of trailer parks but inside the city.

It recommended the grandfather clause which permitted any trailer placed in the city before 1979 to remain in the same location, be abolished entirely. It also recommended that all trailers in the city then be moved out.

"I'm not in favor of that. I think there's a place for trailers," said Councilman George Tillis. "I know they were a great asset to me when I got married."

"What's wrong with mobile homes?" asked one member of the audience. "Why do we have to beg every year for a permit? It's like everybody else. That's my home. It may not be a house, but that's my home."

Brinson suggested the council and board may have been acting illegally according to a letter to the council from the city attorney, dated September 14, 1982.

"We have something that, if I'm reading it right, we're not doing anything right," she said.

She said the letter implied to her that the board had final say over all zoning matters except changing ordinances, which fell to the council.

Councilmen Jon Mock and William McKinstry said that Stauder must have been interpreting the old ordinance when he wrote that.

"We changed the ordinance to where we have the last say," said Mock, the council's chairman.

Board member Jim Usher said he didn't think it was appropriate for the Planning and Zoning Board to also serve as the Board of Adjustment.

"We cannot serve on two boards like that because they are in conflict. We cannot serve on the Board of Adjustment and the Planning and Zoning Board," he said.

Slonaker said he would like to see the paragraph in the code governing the placement of trailers in the city revised. He said he interpreted it to mean that any unoccupied trailer could be parked in the city.

The paragraph states that no person can park or occupy a trailer in the city outside an approved trailer park for more than five days "except, the parking of only one unoccupied trailer in an accessory private garage building, or in a rear yard in any district, is permitted providing no living quarters shall be maintained or any business practiced in said trailer while such trailer is so parked or stored."

McKinstry said he wouldn't like to remove any trailer that was located prior to the time he sat on the council, and Councilwoman Ada Bush agreed.

"I'm not about to make anyone move anyone out of their mobile home that looks better than some of the houses we got," said Bush.

J. Ray Hatton, Sr., who was cited by the city for having an illegally placed trailer on his property on Bacon Point Road, said he saw nothing wrong with trailers.

"Some people can't afford them a house," he said. "They gotta move into a mobile home."

Hatton said that some of the trailers are "better than anything you got in the city."

He challenged the city to govern the placement of trailers with set-back and landscaping requirements. "There ain't no one of them that has it, and you all aint got guts enough to make them do it," he said.

The council decided to schedule another workshop on the trailer ordinances for a time when the city attorney would be available.

Rice growers set seminar

BELLE GLADE—Rice growers and other interested in rice production are invited to attend a Rice Growers' Seminar, Tuesday, Jan. 11 at 7:30 p.m., in the conference room at the Agricultural Research and Education Center.

The results of research conducted this past season in the Everglades Area will be presented.

Facilitators for the seminar will be Dr. David Jones, Rice Agronomist, AREC, Belle Glade and Dr. George Synder, Soil Chemist, AREC, Belle Glade.

Dr. Jones topics of discussion will include the Evaluation of 1982 Variety Trials, Seeding rate/row spacing investigation and disease evaluation.

Dr. Synder will address the "Effect of Slag on Rice Growth and Yield Response to Nitrogen."

According to Kenneth D. Shuler, County Extension Agent, information provided at this meeting should help growers in making management decisions for his coming season's rice crop.

Also included in the discussion at the seminar will be the research plans for 1983.

The meeting is open to the public.

1-man drama slated at church

BELLE GLADE—The Rev. V. Neil Wyrick will present a one-man drama reflecting the World of Charles Wesley, Sunday, Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m., at the Community Methodist Church.

Rev. Wyrick, of Miami, reveals in his portrayal of Charles Wesley a man of extreme vitality and talent, a preacher, musician, and a gentleman of fantastic physical stamina.

Rev. Wyrick has patterned his Wesley production after Mark

Holbrook's monologue of Mark Twain.

Everyone is invited to attend, so plan now to come and witness an interesting presentation.

ARC to have salad bar luncheon at civic center

BELLE GLADE—The Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens second annual Salad Bar Luncheon will be held Friday, Jan. 7 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The luncheon will be held at the Belle Glade Municipal Civic Center. Take outs will be available.

Tickets are $4 per person. Tickets are available at Eloise's Gifts, Gilbert Jewelers, The Rose Petal, Cabin Cleaners or call 996-4335.

Man sought for auto theft

BELLE GLADE -- Some people just take longer to make up their minds. It seems, then again, not all decisions are easy.

Like whether to purchase a car.

That's one dilemma

that's apparently being faced by at least one local man right now.

According to Detective Ray Swaford of the Belle Glade Police Department, Willie Earl Stevens, 33, of Belle Glade, went to Carl's Cars at 533 SW 16th Street in Belle Glade Thursday, December 30, at about 4 p.m.

He left with a gold colored 1981 Olds Regency for a test drive.

According to Swaford, he was still test driving it Monday, January 4.

Stevens is now being sought on charges of grand theft auto, according to Swaford.

Woman charged with grand theft auto

BELLE GLADE -- A woman who was passenger in an automobile driven by a Miami Locks man Tuesday, December 28, 1976, Mercury owned by Emmanuel Simpson, was arrested for allegedly stealing the automobile she was riding in.

According to Detective Ray Swaford of the Belle Glade Police Department, Shirley

Woodson, 25, of 70 Roosevelt Street in Okeechobee Center, had remained in the passenger seat of the vehicle.

While he was in the store, Woodson allegedly moved behind the steering wheel of the automobile which was left running, and stole the vehicle.

Simpson apparently gave chase on foot, but was unable to catch up to Woodson.

She was arrested and charged with grand theft auto December 31.

The automobile was recovered January 1, after it was stripped of a luggage rack, a battery, five cases of soda, $100 worth of tools, jumper cables and a citizen's band radio.

According to Swaford, witnesses have claimed that a tall, thin black man was seen leaving the auto.

Man arrested for burglarizing auto

BELLE GLADE -- A 25-year old Belle Glade resident was apprehended and arrested New Years Eve after he allegedly broke into an automobile and stole a tape player and a pair of pants from it.

According to Detective Ray Swaford of the Belle Glade Police Department, Turner Robinson of 601 SW Fifth Street, allegedly broke into an automobile belonging to Ralph Yancey, 37, of 160 SW 12th Street in South Bay.

The automobile was parked at the ramp on SW Fifth Street in Belle Glade.

Robinson apparently took a tape player and a pair of pants valued at $193 from the vehicle.

He was observed by Yancey as he left the scene with something rolled up in a pair of pants, said Swaford.

Yancey told police that he found a pair of flip-flop shoes in his car that didn't belong to him.

Yancey supposedly found Robinson at a lounge later that night and demanded his pants and tape player be returned.

Robinson was taken to the police and he reportedly admitted to having stolen the tape player and pants, but said he had already sold the items.

He offered to recover the items in exchange for the charges be dropped, but he failed to locate the individual he claimed to have sold the items to and was subsequently arrested and charged with burglary and grand theft.

Robinson was taken to the police and he reportedly admitted to

Festival

Hatton added that the chamber won't be able to please everyone no matter what it chooses to do.

"If you please fifty percent of the people you've done real good with it," agreed Tillis.

He suggested that the chamber scale the festival down.

Diane Hall also agreed that the July festival looked more advantageous because funds for it could be solicited starting in January and the chamber would have more time to plan it.

She said the large festival the chamber sponsored last year was underwritten in a large measure by J. Ray Hatton. She said the chamber spent $13,000 putting on the festival and still hadn't paid for all of it.

"I don't think we can handle it," said Hall, adding that even if the city held a large festival and attracted outsiders, there's no hotels or other accommodations there for them to stay at in the city.

Mike Poza said the July festival would be the only one in the area at that time, while a March festival would come in the middle of the festival season in the Lake Okechobee region.

"You got it by yourselves," said Poza of a July 4 festival.

"I think it would be a good thing to go to the fourth of July and then get as outstanding as we can," said Vera Weeks.

J. Ray Hatton II said that he didn't care which date the chamber settled on, but added the chamber should try to improve the fireworks display if it opts for the July festival.

"We need to have more control over them and know what we're getting. Quite frankly, I was very disappointed," he said of last year's display.

He said that each year, the community is told that the fireworks display will get better and bigger and instead they get smaller.

Hall said the chamber will attempt to contract for the fireworks this year.

In other business, the board of directors authorized Tillis to attempt to hire a humorist speaker for the chamber of commerce's annual banquet. The banquet is scheduled for March 18 at the Prince Theater at 7 p.m.

Tickets have been tentatively priced at $15 each.

Dr. Orsenigo to speak

BELLE GLADE—Dr. J.R. Orsenigo will speak to the members of the Glades Historical Society on "Birds of South Florida" at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 6 in the conference room of the Belle Glade Municipal Library.

Dr. Orsenigo, an authority on wild life in South Florida, will discuss bird life as related to local ecology and environment.

Dr. Orsenigo is professor emeritus of the University of Florida Agricultural Research and Education Center, 1957-1975. He is currently director of research, Florida Sugar Cane League, Inc.

The public is invited to attend.

'Born Yesterday' on stage Jan. 13 at Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center

The cast for Beach Junior College's Senior Players' production of "Born Yesterday" is a mixture of professional actors, experienced amateurs, and talented retirees from diverse careers.

They have one thing in common, though. They are all 55 years of age or older.

Under the direction of Nancy Goodwin, Senior Players coordinator, the group has been rehearsing for about three hours every day in any space available on campus.

Without the benefit of stage or props, they are drawing on talent and past experience to blend the individual characters into a polished performance.

Madeline Shaw, who will play Billie Dawn, will make her Florida debut in the portrayal of the cute, dumb blonde.

As a former professional singer and actress in New York and New Jersey, she performed in operettas and comedies. Her former roles include Betty Sing in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" and Goldie in "Fiddler on the Roof."

"I took formal voice training at the Manhattan School of Music and the New York College of Music for a long time," Shaw said. "And I loved every minute of it."

She also studied acting under Stella Adler at the Herbert Berghof Studio in New York. Shaw has been a Boca Raton resident for four years.

The part of Paul Verrill, the idealistic reporter who becomes Billie Dawn's beau, will be played by Lester Ostrow.

A retired manufacturer and distributor of industrial marketing devices, Ostrow enjoyed a brief flirtation with the theatre while a student at the University of North Carolina. It was an affair he never forgot.

His roles included Jack Worthing in "The Importance of Being Earnest," Anthony Cavendish in "The Royal Family," and Chick Kessler in "I'm Having a Good Time." Ostrow, a Delray Beach resident, came to the Senior Players via the "Play Factory," a PBJS senior citizen's group directed by Nancy Goodwin. He worked in two of the radio plays the group taped for the benefit of blind persons.

"I've always had a yen for acting," Ostrow said. "But I never had the time for it while I was working."

The same sentiments were expressed by Roy Feinberg, who will play Ed Devery. Like Ostrow, Feinberg returned "to his first love" after retirement. "I retired about a year ago as a real estate and travel executive. I handled conferences for ABC," he said. "I did community theatre in Long Island, but could never afford to be a full-time actor until now."

Though he has worked in the skits the group performs at area nursing homes, the role of the drunken Harvard attorney is Feinberg's first with the Senior Players.

The role of the brash junk dealer, Harry Brock, is the first part in a full-stage production for Jerry Millman.

A retired accountant now residing in Royal Palm Beach, Millman was introduced to show business as a guitar player for a "Glenn Miller-type" swing band.

After playing with the 20-piece band for five years, he settled down, but never lost his interest in music.

In his spare time, Millman strums the banjo on the Island Queen Riverboat, plays in a dance band called the Aristocrats, and appears in musical events at the Barrington Gallery and School of Art/Delray Beach.

Victor Muller, a Lake Worth resident, will portray Eddie Brock, Harry's butler.

Muller had no acting experience either, until he moved to Florida eight years ago. Since then, he has had roles and done editing of programs for the Cresthaven Players.

Some of his parts include Stu in "California Suite," Mr. Stanley in "The Man Who Came To Dinner," and most recently, the milkman in "Come Back Little Sheba."

In the United States, he has performed with stock companies in New England; he has experience working with Cornelia Otis Skinner and Josephine Hull, and played in two shows with Edward Everett Horton.

registered pharmacist, Miele studied dramatics in Great Britain, France and Spain. He later performed on stages in these countries, reciting lines in the native tongues!

In the United States, he has performed with stock companies in New England; he has experience working with Cornelia Otis Skinner and Josephine Hull, and played in two shows with Edward Everett Horton.

Apne Gerig is a Delray Beach resident with twenty years of experience with community theatre in Massachusetts.

"I played Hannah in 'Night of the Iguana' and Mrs. Manningham in 'Gaslight,'" she said. "I think 'Born Yesterday' will be very well done."

The show will open Thursday, Jan. 6, and run through Sunday, Jan. 9 in the PBJS Central Auditorium.

Evening performances will begin at 8 p.m. and matinees on Saturday and Sunday will start at 2 p.m.

There will also be a performance at the Belle Glade campus Thursday Jan. 13 at 8 p.m. in the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center.

Tickets are $4, and all seats are reserved. For tickets or more information, call 986-3055.

BRINGING YOU THE BEST!

Over 50 years ago, we became known as The Beef People® and since then we've worked hard to live up to that tradition. We offer only U.S. Choice Beef. It's always naturally tender and delicious with the big, bold flavor of the West. You deserve the best and at WINN-DIXIE you get it. Spirit. Tradition. The best. WINN-DIXIE.
